

Dear Mom and Dad,

I know how much you love me. Let me tell you how much I love you! I love you so much that I want to give you a gift.

This gift is a special invitation to stay close to each other in love every day.

- ♥ Spend time together alone now and then
- ♥ Talk to each other softly and truthfully
- ♥ Listen with your hearts
- ♥ Forgive one another's faults
- ♥ Hold each other's hand more often
- ♥ Try to kiss at least once a day
- ♥ Write a love letter before you write your "to do" list
- ♥ Don't let the sun set on an argument
- ♥ Let each other know how special and precious you are – a gift from God
- ♥ Say "thank you" and "I love you" to each other – like you remind me to do
- ♥ Remember that you are teaching me the meaning of "love and marriage" through your example in our family, my most important school.

Well, Mom and Dad – this is just a little bit of the gift I want for you to have and share. If you'd like help in opening up this gift, there's a special time set aside for you. It's called a "Marriage Encounter Weekend." You deserve a weekend for yourselves, and it can help you to make my gift come true. If you'd like more information about this special opportunity, please read this brochure and call the number inside.

And as you do all these wonderful things for each other, know that you are helping everyone to realize that:

"The best thing parents can do for their children is to love one another."

This is my gift to you with love,

Go to <http://wwme.org> for dates, locations, more information, and to sign up!

Dear Mom and Dad,

I know how much you love me. Let me tell you how much I love you! I love you so much that I want to give you a gift.

This gift is a special invitation to stay close to each other in love every day.

- ♥ Spend time together alone now and then
- ♥ Talk to each other softly and truthfully
- ♥ Listen with your hearts
- ♥ Forgive one another's faults
- ♥ Hold each other's hand more often
- ♥ Try to kiss at least once a day
- ♥ Write a love letter before you write your "to do" list
- ♥ Don't let the sun set on an argument
- ♥ Let each other know how special and precious you are – a gift from God
- ♥ Say "thank you" and "I love you" to each other – like you remind me to do
- ♥ Remember that you are teaching me the meaning of "love and marriage" through your example in our family, my most important school.

Well, Mom and Dad – this is just a little bit of the gift I want for you to have and share. If you'd like help in opening up this gift, there's a special time set aside for you. It's called a "Worldwide Marriage Encounter" experience. You deserve it for yourselves, and it can help you to make my gift come true. If you'd like more information about this special opportunity, please read this brochure and call the number inside.

And as you do all these wonderful things for each other, know that you are helping everyone to realize that:

"The best thing parents can do for their children is to love one another."

This is my gift to you with love,

Go to <http://wwme.org> for dates, locations, more information, and to sign up!